Notice to the Mercantile Public.
The Post-Master General and Director of Telegraphs deems it his duty to let the Public, especially the Mercantile portion of it, know—
1st. That, in accordance with the regulations of this department, all complaints respecting the mislaying or loss of letters are immediately attended to, and diligent search made for the missing correspondence, and steps taken to punish those in fault, if such there be.
2nd. That anonymous complaints through the Press will not be taken as a basis for any steps whatever, nor will any inquiry be instituted on such ground.
3rd. That, notwithstanding, a morning paper of this city having referred, in a recent issue, to loss of correspondence in August last (a time when, as everybody knows, the Post and Telegraph Department had not been reorganized) the three merchants alluded to are requested to lay particulars before this Department, so that the steps prescribed by the Regulations may be taken forthwith.
4th. That all persons having any complaints pending are, in like manner, requested to at once lay them before this Department, in any shape, provided that they be signed, and they shall meet immediate attention, as it is the first duty of the Department to inspire confidence in the public, and especially the mercantile public, and to omit no possible effort to bring the truth to light in all cases.

Muy Sres. mios
Me es grato comunicar a Vds el resultado satisfactorio del nuevo examen quimico del 'Fluido Little' que acabo de practicar sobre una muestra de este especifico enviada por Vds a este laboratorio el 12 del corr. y fabricado por Morris Little e Hijo en Inglaterra.
Confrontando el analisis de esta muestra con mi analisis del mismo especifico practicado en Febrero de 1879 encuentro un aumento considerable en su grado de concentracion; su densidad es superior, la proporcion de fenoles contenidos en los aceites es mayor, y en una palabra lo considero no solo superior al producto primitivo, sino el mas concentrado y activo de cuantos de su clase he tenido ocasion de examinar hasta la fecha. Esta observacion se refiere, se entiende, esclusivamente a los especificos contra la sarna, que tienen por base los aceites Hidro carburados y fenoles del alquitran y que no deben su eficacia al arsenico, al azufre, o al tabaco, sustancias que no existen en el 'Fluido Little.' Apesar de su mayor concentracion el Fluido se mezcla con el agua fria con la misma facilidad y perfeccion como antes.
Me repito de Vds

The Course of Medicine
How Patients are deceived.
Most persons seem to have the impression that all so-called Liver Medicines go straight to the liver. Medicine, like food, goes immediately to the stomach; a portion mixes with the substances, and acts as a cathartic, while the remainder enters the circulation, and takes a large route through the blood, finally to the liver, and we may add, as a rule, does no permanent good, but rather leaves baneful effects, and begins a pernicious practice, which, if followed up, will eventually destroy the stomach and fasten diseases in the system, never to be eradicated.
Not so, however, with the Holman Pad. It works directly upon the liver through the pores of the skin, quietly, thoroughly, and without inconvenience, performing a most important function. And we add this remarkable statement, challenging refutation, that in its extensive use by and including all classes of persons, from old age to helpless infancy, not a single case of injury has occurred, while 90 per cent are cured.

War between Turkey and Greece in the spring apparently inevitable.

Associated Press Telegram

HAVAS' AGENCY

Paris 25th.

The diplomatic negotiations now going on between Turkey and the other Powers for the convocation of a Conference in Constantinople progress very slowly nevertheless, a pacific solution of the Turko-Grecian question is espected.

SOUTH AFRICA.

The Havas telegram published yesterday has necessarily created some interest in the affairs of a country whose relations with the Plate are chiefly limited to mules and corn cobs. In the period of the Zulu war, we all watched with interest the struggle of civilization with barbarism, never doubting for a moment the inevitable sequel. In the present rumpus there is, however, more to enlist attention, since the industrious Dutch Boers are the belligerents, and Republicanism their banner—a banner which in the 19th century must necessarily find followers in every part of the globe, and in the 25th century will, in all probability, need no crusade to support or rebellion to establish it.

The Dutch Boers of the Transvaal, by some inexplicable political complication, are now defending territory which the British Government gave them, and rights with which the Colonial Government was the first to endow them. The garrison which the telegram announces as having surrendered was composed of a few men belonging to Colonial regiments, and as it is possible many of our readers may not have a very clear idea of this Transvaal 'Imbroglio,' we extract from a London paper, received yesterday, the following, which throws full light on a struggle, which we must all deplore, for a cause that the world reveres:—

The Dutch Boers of the Transvaal may be gifted with a very keen sense of humour, and probably they have sought to give England a surprise at Christmas. It is so much our custom to prove to our own satisfaction at this seasan that all has gone well with us, and that even great misfortunes are blessings in disguise, that even the act of the Dutch Boers may not occur to us as being out of the beaten track. It is possible that they have heard of entertainments given to Sir Bartle Frere and of his reception at Court. There may be Boers who believe that England's difficulty is the opportunity of the Transvaal, and that when we are shipping troops to Ireland and are in doubt about withdrawing our army from Candahar we shall have no means of sending any troops to the assistance of the colonists with whom the Boers desire exclusively to deal. Hence the Boers have marched upon Heidelberg and proclaimed the Republic, with Mr Kruger for President. Sir George Colley is hastening from Natal with all the troops he can hurry to the Transvaal, and whatever British troops can do will be done to keep up our sovereignty over the territory we so lately annexed. The whole story is one of the marvellous stories of colonisation. We once gave the territory to the Boers, when it was convenient to us that they should move further afield. They marched in primitive fashion, and if they had kept on good terms with their neighbours the Zulus all would have gone well. But the Boers, or some of them, have the common affliction of Europeans. They coveted lands of the Zulus, and it happened that the lands of which they took possession were well watered by the great river, so that even the Zulus came to comprehend the value of the land of which the invaders had taken possession. We offered our arbitration, and we made terms favourable to the Boers, to whom, in consideration of annexation, we also offered local self-government, Home Rule, and practical independence, on the simple condition of an acknowledgment of the Queen's title. No deputation could be induced to listen to our offers, and no advance was ever made by Sir Bartle Frere in conciliation, except so far as he induced himself to confound the voice of the people with the wishes of a few influential landowners and speculators, who saw in the Imperial idea the opportunity of possible gain. So long as we could impress the minds of the people with force it was possible for us to keep down any attempt to restore the Republic. It has happened otherwise. Our forces are wanted elsewhere. We have, as a people, disapproved of the policy of Sir Bartle Frere, and he has been recalled. It is true that we have approved, by the Queen's Speech, of the annexation of the Transvaal, but that goes for little in our time.

It is enough to have one war upon our hands in Africa, and our progress as yet against the Basutos is not such as to give us much occasion for congratulation. We cannot conquer the Boers; we can only take their country. If they are beaten in the field they will do as they did before, go farther afield, but that is perhaps part of the calculation of the men who, from the first, have taken up the cause of annexation. All these transactions are connected with commercial motives, and it is clear that there is a party in the Colony with allies in the Republican territory who see in annexation some great 'coup' which may be made for the advantage of those who are in the secrets of State. Sir Bartle Frere was guided by a single eye to the honour of the British Crown, but he was surrounded by men who misled him by their applause into enterprises from which every British pro-consul should ever stand aloof. We ought to send out a commission to collect evidence on the spot to ascertain what is the will of the majority of the people. It cannot be our interest to take territory from a people who desire to be at peace with us, but to be left to govern themselves. It is evidence in favour of the desire of the people to remain independent when we find a few thousand men march into Heidelberg, the capital, and without a blow being struck, take possession, and then and there proclaim the Republic. The English connection can have no friends beyond the places where troops are to be found; but our troops in the Colony will be unable to coope with a little Republican army, if it is decently well commanded. The men are fighting for all that is dear to them in the form of home and country. They may lose both, probably will lose both, for England cannot afford to be defeated. It is urgently necessary, however, that Sir Hercules Robinson's departure for the Cape should be no longer delayed, and that he should have powers given to him to enable him to deal with this new Boer difficulty in the largest and most generous spirit, even to the extent of conceding the restoration of the Republic. The Dutch Boers, however, must understand that they will have to deal with their neighbours themselves, and that they must sternly forbid, and, if necessary, punish acts of aggression committed by the subjects of the Republic. It was these acts that led to all our trouble in Zululand, and rendered Cetewayo suspicious of us. We did and suffered much for the Boers, and they, more than England, will have the advantage of what we have done. They are acting with 'method in their madness,' but the real practical question for us is—Is the Transvaal worth our having, and worth fighting for? If it is, then a serious question arises as to the provision of the means of accomplishing that which is beyond the power of the colonial troops. We used to do very well without the Transvaal, and the Boers did very well without us. Is the national honour too deeply pledged to render it impossible for us to let it go?

With regard to the Basuto war we have the following:—

As to the immediate causes of the revolt, the testimony of Colonel Griffith, C.M.G., who has been Governor's Agent in Baustoland for several years past, may be accepted by the British, as it is by the Colonial public, as the simple and unprejudiced truth. In August last he officially represented that several of the chiefs were setting authority at defiance and urged that, although no doubt resistance might be anticipated, there was no other course open than that of making the chiefs and their followers submit to the law. Colonel Griffith in his letter stated:—'It is my duty to bring clearly to the notice of the Government that the laws of this territory have been openly broken and violated by armed bands of robbers, who, acting under the orders of their chief, have not only shot down loyal British subjects who were defending their lives and property, but have also in the most wanton manner plundered the property of many other loyal natives, and also robbed their wives and children of their food and clothing. The object which these disaffected chiefs had in view was not only to intimidate and prevent the people from surrendering their arms, but was also for the purpose of forcing the wavering and the weak into their ranks, and thus strengthening their own position. In carrying out these measures the authority of the Government has been opposed, defied and trampled upon; the authorities have not been in a position to resent this, and consequently all law and order have for some time been in abeyance. It is very evident that the crisis through which we are passing is an endeavour on the part of some of the chiefs to re-establish their arbitrary power, and, if possible, to regain their independence. Upon receiving this communication the Colonial Government directed the Cape Mounted Rifles to march to Basutoland, but before they could reach its border Mr. Sprigg, the Premier, travelled himself from Cape Town to Maseru to confer with Colonel Griffiths and others, and thus endeavour to assure a peaceful solution of the difficulty. Overtures were made to the disaffected chiefs, and it was proposed to hold a 'piste', or assembly, to discuss the terms or conditions which the Government was disposed to grant to them. The Premier, however, had many private warnings from loyal Basutos that it was secretly arranged by the rebels, if the assembly took place, to kill himself, the Governor's Agent, and other magistrates, and so commence the war. Under the circumstances, therefore the meeting did not take place, but letters, stating the terms offered by Government—viz, nominal surrender of arms and submission to a fine—were sent to the rebel chiefs, and, notwithstanding all the persuasions of their friends, were rejected by them. The entry of the Cape Mounted Rifles into Mafeteng to relieve the garrison there was the signal for the outbreak of hostilities, which have since been continued with great determination. From other quarters there is evidence forthcoming that the plot of the present rebellion has been in preparation for a long time, and that there has been a skilful attempt at a combination of various tribes 'to drive the white man out.' Kosana, a loyal Tembu chief, who has come in to the magistrate of Barkly asking for protection as his people have rebelled, says:—'Long ago, before the fighting, Lotsea sent word to the chief they must be ready to fight. The Tamboo kies have no grievance. They simply fight because they hate the white man. The chiefs said a lot, but you cannot believe them: they lie, and then go and kill the Government. I came out with 11 followers. I fought against Government in the war Umlangemi, and then I said we could never win, and I have been loyal ever since,'

LATEST FROM RIO.

The Extraordinary Session was closed by H. M. the Emperor on the 19th of January, when he thanked the Legislature for the Electoral Reform Law and declared that the public peace and the foreign relations continued unchanged.

The law was promulgated on the 11th. After signature the Ministry tendered their resignation to His Majesty, in order to leave him free to choose a Ministry of his full confidence to carry the law into execution. His Majesty, however, expressed his entire confidence in the present Ministry and refused to accept their resignation, and consequently, the Saraiva Cabinet continues at the head of national affairs.

Their Majesties are to leave for their Petropolis residence on the 18th, and it is said will set out in April for the projected Minas Geraes excursion, intending to pass the Holy Week with the Bishop of Marianna and afterwards make trips up and down the Rio das Velhas in the Saldanha Marinho.

The Minister of Agriculture has, it is said, drawn up his plan of colonization upon lands acquired by the State along railways, roads and navigable rivers, together with the creation of a receiving house at this port, and intends to apply to the next Legislature for the necessary credit.

A new and very favorable tariff for the transport of milk, fruit and other products of small farming, on which a reduction of 50 p. cent has been conceded, has been issued for the D. Pedro II railway, and the Minister has instructed the director of the Baturite railway to reduce the tariff on such articles 50 p. cent. He has also instructed the Presidents of Pernambuco, Bahia and S. Paulo to obtain a similar reduction on the Anglo-Brazilian lines, extending the measure in S. Paulo to Santos.

Owing to the complete restoration of the vigor of the Prince de Gram Para's arm, their MM. SS. AA. the Conde d'Eu and the Princess-Imperial are about to return to Brazil and are expected here in June.

Visconde de Pelotas has left for Rio Grande do Sul, and during his absence Baron Homem de Mello, Minister of the Empire, will accumulate the portfolio of War.

The resignation of Father Augusto Julio de Almeida of the bishopric of Goyaz, to which he was appointed in March 1876, has been accepted and Father Claudio Jose Goncalves Ponce de Leao has been appointed to it, and Monsenhor Jose Pereira da Silva Barros, vicar of Taubate, has been nominated Bishop of Olinda.

A S. Paulo paper asserts that in a few days the S. Paulo Legislature will vote, like Rio de Janeiro and Minas Geraes, a prohibitive tax on slaves brought hereafter into the province.

As the Chambers did not vote the credits asked for railways, the Minister of Agriculture has instructed the engineers-in-chief of the Porto Alegre and Uruguayana, the Paulo Affonso and the Sobral railways and the Bahia and Pernambuco prolongations, to reduce the works and keep strictly within the ordinary vote.

The Government has recived the copy of the Chinese treaty and probably it will soon be published, when we will learn whether it really contains in it the Chinese laborer for the plantation.

The German Ladies Bazaar has yielded about 19:000$ net, to the great gratification and credit of the benevolent and spirited ladies who organized it.

Yellow fever, but not of a very fatal character, continues in the shipping; and in the city has somewhat increased, but not so as to add more than one case per diem, on the average, to the city mortuary returns.

Dr Branner, Edison's agent for the collection of fibres best suited to supply the incandescent carbons of his electrical lamp, arrived at Para in the last United States packet.

The Juiz de Direito of the 2d Para district has released a man kept illegally in prison since June, by order of a subdelegate, and apparently with the connivance of the chief of police and public prosecutor, who did nothing in the matter at the monthly visits to prisoners they made or should have made. The subdelegate and all his successors have been ordered to pay triple cost and are to be prosecuted. But such prosecutions always come to nought.

At Maranham some fishermen found in the river the body of a resident of Pao d'Arco, having five stabs, a split head and several other injuries and being tied on a stick and two stones attached to sink it. Some neighbors are suspected.

In Piauhy the state of affairs at Humilde is said to have got worse, despite the troops sent thither, and no security to person to exist. The Juiz de Direito wanted to get away, but the Vice-President refused leave.

In Parahyba the back country is overrun with bandits and the Provincial Government has no troops to send after them.

The gunboat Principe do Grao Para landed, Dec. 27th, at Fernando do Noronha the commissioners sent to examine the phosphate deposits on Ilha Rata, and left again with them on the 31st. The report is that the deposits are very valuable and yield a large percentage of phosphates.

LORD DALHOUSIE ON IRELAND.

We commend to the attention of our readers Lord Dalhousie's speech on Irish affairs, delivered last month in Liverpool. The noble Lord may have some claim on the attention of River Plate English readers, as his father was for many years Admiral of this station and doubtless known to many who read these lines:—

Liverpool, Friday.

Addressing to-night the Liberal Nine Hundred at Liverpool, Lord Dalhousie, who as Lord Ramsay represented that city in the House of Commons, at considerable length alluded to Irish questions. He combated the coercion policy, and said even if a Coercion Act were as entirely successful as its warmest advocates could wish, what could it do? How could coercion help us? At the very best, it would heal nothing. (Hear, hear). It would not even skin and film the ulcerous place; it would not touch a very small part of it. (Hear, hear). It would be useless for the purpose of inducing tenants to come forward to pay their rents, or to prevent the forcible reinstatement of evicted tenants, or to put a check upon the whole of that class of proceedings known as 'Boycotting.' (Hear, hear). He admitted that murders and outrages might so increase as to make coercion of some kind necessary for the bare protection of human life, but at present murderous outrages were not on the increase; on the contrary, they were decreasing. (Hear, hear). Neither was there any secret conspiracy, nor any of those things with which coercion was especially fitted to cope. Coercion would bring us no nearer to making the Irish people contented than they were at this moment, and would leave untouched the chief feature of the present agitation, which was not murderous outrage, but a general combination in certain districts to pay no rent, and to intimidate all those who refuse to join it. It was impossible for Englishmen to sympathise with all the wild and impracticable programme of the Land League, but the fact that many among them had ulterior views, perhaps of a revolutionary nature, should not deter them from giving a cordial support to whatever measures justice might demand and Mr Gladstone bring forward. It would be weak and shortsighted in the last degree to allow ourselves to be turned aside from the path of justice by feelings such as these. (Hear, hear). If Ireland was ever to become a thoroughly loyal member of the Empire, it could only be through such ample measures of justice and reform as should make her people anxious to uphold and maintain the system under which they lived and which united them to us. (Cheers). He admitted that the present state of the country was deplorable and discreditable to us in the highest degree. It must be difficult for many law-abiding English or Scotch Liberals, especially if their Liberalism is of the Whig or moderate kind, to contemplate with great enthusiasm reforms which it seemed to them were being extorted by violence. (Hear, hear.) They would, they say, be glad to see justice done, but they did not like to think that any concession was being wrung from the Government by intimidation and physical force. 'If any such were here,' he said to them, 'be careful how you allow yourselves to be carried away by such a train of thought. Have moral courage to do what is just, even though in doing it you should seem to be making a concession to an agitation of which you heartily disapprove' (cheers.) There is nothing so contemptible as the fear of being afraid; and remember that the sooner the law was placed upon a just footing, the sooner they were likely to be able to reinforce it with the general consent and approval of the country (hear, hear.) At present the law was cordially hated by something like half the Irish nation, who are now in open revolt against it. But why? Among other reasons, because the law protected the property of the rich man, but omitted to give the same protection to the property of the poor man (cheers) Ten months ago when he was before that constituency as a candidate he pointed out many times, and at considerable length, what was now pretty generally admitted, that the Irish peasantry had legitimate grievances (hear, hear)—that their condition and surroundings were in many cases wretched and miserable, that this was to be attributed more to an unsound system of land tenure than to anything else, and that without a thorough and drastic reform of that system we could not expect to have any permanent improvement in the state of the country (cheers.) Although his political opinions were very far from being in harmony with those of the majority of that branch of the Legislature to which he now belonged, he was as thoroughgoing and whole-hearted an advocate of the principles that he and they held in common as when they honoured him by sending him to Westminster to support them (loud and prolonged cheers.) He suspected many Irish landlords now regretted the rejection of the Irish Disturbance Bill by the Peers, for this prevented only what no good landlord would do if left to himself. His experience as a landlord was, that nothing injured a tenant so much as insecurity of tenure.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Pacific steamer Magellan brings news from Europe to 5th inst. The Turco-Greek Question is said to beas good as ettled, the matter having been referred to France for final arbitration, with the full consent of all the Great Powers. The Irish Question is hotter than ever. A torpedo was discovered under the Lord Warden ironclad at her anchorage, and the Fenians are suspected. There have been awful inundations in Holland. The dykes at the Hague burst and eight towns were inundated. In England there has been tremendous rain and inundation in several parts. Brighton and Manchester suffered terribly, and the losses are said to be enormous: several factories swamped. In New York appalling cold. Martial law proclaimed at Cape. The Dutch of Orange Territory have joined the Boers. French ironclad Richelieu destroyed by fire at Toulon. Great agitation in France. Communist journals call Gambetta a pirate chief. Tremendous floods in Belgium and Italy.

Havas's telegram announcing that the British garrison at Leydenberg had been compelled to surrender to the Boers caused an unsatisfactory impression in British circles yesterday. The event itself is not of any great military importance, as we believe the garrison was composed of colonial levies, and the prestige of the British Army is hardly in question; but it shows that the Boers are bent on persevering in their revolt and, consequently, securing for themselves a sound thrashing in the end. These never ending 'little wars' cost far more worry and almost as much money in the long run as a stand-up fight with a first class Power. 'Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.' Very probably; but the head of a British Prime Minister, with the less imposing wide-awake or chimney-pot on the top of it, must lie a thousand times more uneasy.

The experiments with the Gower-Bell telephone yesterday in the offices over Burgos's shop were as successful as they could be. The lower one speaks the better, the listener hears; and a 'pig's whisper' could be heard at the South Pole, which Lt. Bove should take a note of. Captain Manton is now putting up a telephone wire between the Red House and President Roca's quinta. It's a wonderful invention this telephone, and with the aid of the Microphone can do astounding things. We hear of a patent about to be taken out to enable people to hear a fly wink, by means of the combined instruments.

We remind members of the Rowing Club that the annual meeting for the reception of accounts and the election of a new committee takes place to-night at 8 p.m., at the Scotch Church. We are glad to see by the report that the club is in a most prosperous condition. It now owns 29 boats, and there are only 2 members, out of 268, in arrear with their subscriptions: a most creditable state of things. Some new boats have been ordered in England and here.

There was no news of importance from the West Coast yesterday. The Chilians are making themselves quite at home at Lima, and have already started a newspaper there, to give the vanquished a bit of their mind in fresh ink every morning. Not a word about Pierola or the formation of a Provincial Government to treat for peace. The Chilians lost no time in embarking their wounded; some thousands of those put 'hors de combat' at Chorillos have already arrived at Valparaiso.

For want of space we are forced to hold over until to-morrow a report of the Herd-Book meeting at Messrs. Baltar and Quesada's on Tuesday. Mr. V. Casares was named President, and Mr. David Shenuan Vice-President, of the Committee.

The National steamer Villarino will sail for Bahia Blanca and Patagones on 5th prox. Saturday week.

We erred some days ago in announcing that M Rouquaud, the enterprising Frenchman who first settled at Santa Cruz, had applied to the National Government for a pension. What M. R. has applied for is indemnity for being expelled from Santa Cruz by the Chilians, and a fair rent for his concerns down there, now occupied by the National Government; he has consented to take the money due to him in the form of monthly payments.

'No steamer' again yesterday. The Pacific steamer Magellan entered Montevideo on Tuesday, and, as she brings late news and letters, as a matter of inevitable course, there was 'no steamer' from the Mount. Our native colleagues would style this the very acme of 'cinismo:' we consider it a downright joke, and it remains to be seen how long the port authorities on both sides of the river will allow the public to be fooled by the river Company in this scandalous fashion.

Our excellent colleague La Prensa still keeps up a hot fire against the bare idea of Chinese immigration to this country. It may seen illiberal, but we have a firm conviction that there are far better immigrants to be had than John Chinaman, and that we dont want him here,

Eighteen hundred persons, of whom 400 were decidedly pretty girls, attended the fetes at San Fernando on Sunday, and the ball at night was, according to an esteemed morning colleague, a model of 'alegria espansiva.'

The Revista Medica reports favourably on the health of the city during the past fortnight, and adds the pleasing intelligence that the health of Rio is also good, and yellow fever not increasing.

We had the pleasure of seeing Mr Huss yesterday and of learning from ocular demonstration that he was not robbed of his watch and chain on Sunday night in Calle Piedad, as we reported, on the authority of a colleague.

There is evidently a new leaf about to be turned over in the Army and Navy. The National Government's resolve to pay the soldiers and sailors monthly in future is a reform of the highest importance, and must greatly benefit both services. In minor matters great disciplinary changes are in hand. Yesterday an order from the Chief of the Naval Staff prohibited any officer entering the office of the Minister of Marine without a written permit from the Chief of Staff. It appears that the Navy Office was becoming a lounge for officers with no particular business to transact.

The Pampa published an extremely incisive article yesterday on the Riachuelo Port Works.

The Health Council have summarily closed a 'botica' in Calle Rivadavia, where pure laudanum was delivered some days ago to a customer in mistake for a mixture of that drug and others, and a child was early killed by taking it. Physic is often indispensable, but thousands of people have recourse to it without sufficient cause, and would do better to take the bard's advice and 'throw it to the dogs.'

The weather improved yesterday. The oldest inhabitant does not remember such wet and cool weather in the month of January. It is splendid for the camp, but we shall probably have to roast for it next month and well into March. Talking of weather, we have most satisfactory news for our readers: A meteorological subscriber has set our famed barometer to rights, and it now acts with the regularity of a Connecticut wooden clock. We have been so long accustomed to reading it upside down, that we felt quite awkward when consulting it yesterday. It does not seem quite steady on its pins, or perhaps we should say needles, yet.

The National Government has refused to accept Dr Coni's resignation of his seat on the Municipal Board, and he will not insist. We are glad of this. There is no better man in the Corporation than the talented Doctor.

Some more coal has arrived from the Martha Mine in the Straits, and it has been sold at $275 m/c per ton.

The new German Hospital will be inaugurated on February 2nd, with suitable ceremonies.

Who would imagine that the yachtsmen of England, in search of a new sensation, should fasten on the Buenos Ayres 'ballenera'? Yet such is the case. A letter signed 'Riachuelo' appeared in the Field lately about the River Plate whaleboat as one of the best models ever devised for meeting a heavy, short sea, and commending it to yachtsmen and builders. We will publish this interesting letter to-morrow.

The thieves of the city will be distressed to learn that the police force is to be immediately increased by 100 men.

The Prensa announces tremendous camp fires, but does not say in what direction, North, South, or West.

There was a rumour yesterday of another duel having been fought at Palermo, the principals being a Provincial employee and a quondam editor. One of the combatants was disarmed several times and slightly wounded by his adversary, and the seconds at last declared that honour was perfectly satisfied.

Dr Iriondo, Governor of Santa Fe, will start for that province to-morrow.

We are sorry to see that the London papers announce the death, in France, of Mr Vaughan, father of the Rev. Kenelm Vaughan, who sailed in the Senegale in the hope of seeing his father before he died. We are sorry that this filial hope has been disappointed.

The Calviño case is now assuming the unmistakable signs of deliberate murder. The man arrested lived in the same house as the poisoned family, was engaged in a tan yard, and a keg of arsenical mixture which he had stolen from the premises has been found concealed in his room. It appears that his wife and Mrs Calviño were always at daggers, or rather tongues, drawn. The theory of the sheep-wash cask firewood, though ingenious, is thus exploded.

The fall in the gold market continues; most of the bulls last week are bears to-day, and the speculation which a few days ago was so strong for a rise is now for a fall. The sales of the day reached 1,383,600, which is always a large business, and shows the speculation going on; gold opened for cash at 29.30, and kept dropping all day, closing at 29.15. For February gold sold down to 29.05, and for March closed at 29 Cedulas very firm at 87½, National Bank Shares firm at 72½, and Bonos at par.

The Hevelius postponed her sailing till to-morrow, which allows for a supplemental mail.

The sudden fall in the price of gold on time for February, March and April shows increased confidence in the future. The fact that negotiations for a new Chilian treaty are going on is now known to a wide circle, and that the new treaty will probably be laid before the next Congress proves how both countries desire peace. The present formation of Congress is far different from that of last year, and it is felt almost certain that the influence of the National Government to definitely settle amicably and satisfactorily the Chilian question will secure a majority in Congress. It is this conviction that has so much weakened gold, whose chief strength now rests in being oversold by the ring, which at the moment was caught on the wrong side.

The non-arrival of steamer from Montevideo this morning was a great inconvenience, as the mails by Pacific steamer remain down there.

The National Government, we understand, will not send any commission to Europe to negotiate the rai way loan, but will prefer to deal with offers made here. As yet nothing definite has been done in the matter.

Governor Iriondo of Santa Fe has arrived down for the purpose of arranging definitely the dividing lines between this Province and Santa Fe. The line will be drawn, we hear, in continuation of the Arroyo Medio, and to reach Choel-e-Chiel.

We call attention to Professor Kyle's testimonial respecting the improved qualities of the renowned 'Fluido Little.' The paper must satisfy all as to the efficacy of the remedy.

The Senate passed yesterday the long pending measure of the Provincial Bank guarantee for four millions fuertes. To-night, we suppose, the law will be promulgated.

President Roca is about to take a house in the city and leave the Wanklyn quinta.

Messrs Baltar and Quesada did not sell the land on the Flores Road close to the Ledesma Quinta; 10 m/c per vara over the valuation was offered, but declined.

The decision of the Supreme Court on the Cordova land question stands postponed, but from the remarks of the judges it is quite evident that Cordova is going to lose, and thus all the lands sold a few months ago by auction by order of the Cordova Government amount to nothing, being what we premised when that celebrated mock auction was held. Two parties have left town to go over the Venado Tuerto lands with a view to buying a large estancia between them. As we have already said, all parties interested in this matter should go out and see the lands and judge for themselves; to see the lands is to buy them, for those who have the money or the stock to put on them; but parties buying those lands would do well to add to the cash per league 46,000 m/c per lineal league for wire fences, as lands out there in camps so vast and so open must be fenced. Any man, however, who likes to make a start on these lands, say with 500 cows, can make a capital beginning at a very low cost, and before the railway is open to Pergamino there will not be a league of land thereabout to be had under 500,000 m/c, as the march of the country leans that way and many would be surprised to know all the people settling out in that direction.

A meeting of steamer agents was held today at Mr Norton's office to consider the rule that the agents must be responsible to the Custom House for export duties in the event of these not being paid by the exporters, and also to take into consideration some new regulations sought to be imposed by the Custom House upon steamers and their agents. We believe that the law fixing the responsibility of steamer agents for duties has in all time past been treated as a dead letter, but recently agents have been compelled to countersign the "permisos" for embarkation, thus making themselves personally responsible. We cannot see the necessity for this, as Government should be satisfied with the "fiadores", who are required for all operations of export. The bulk of our produce is exported by steamers, and the matter is therefore for agents a very serious one. It would be monstrous were duties to be claimed from an agent upon goods which had been carried months or years previously in his steamer, if by any chance the Custom House had failed to collect the duties from the shipper of the goods or his "fiador". We understand that the steamer agents intend to lay the matter before the proper quarter.

Gold at afterhours ruled somewhat firmer and closed at 5 o'clock at 29.20 for to-morrow.

Exchange was done at 49⅝ and 49¾. About £11,000 done at ⅝, and £10,000 on terms at 49¾.

Mr Roth, barraquero San Nicolas, leaves to-morrow in Hevelius for Europe.

Nat. Bank Shares rose at afterhours to 73½ buyers, they say the Bank will present a splendid balance sheet and pay a good dividend.

We publish in other column some important advices from Europe by cable; wools continue down at Antwerp.

It appears that the Provincial Bank has sold in London 650,000 Hard Dollars at 74 1/5, and received offer for balance it holds at same rate which was declined.

Mr Woodgate saw Minister Cortinez to-day and we are happy to say his difficulty with the Custom House is arranged. We believe the same about the other cases referred to, and none of our polished steamer agents have had to play the part of Hampden in the Penitentiary.

The following is the note addressed by the Provincial Minister of Finance to the Board of the Provincial Bank in reference to consolidating the debt of the Government to the Bank:

Buenos Aires, Jan. 24th, 1881

To the President of the Bank,

The Government has decided to settle all its unconsolidated debt to the Bank, but, before asking the Legislature to take whatever steps it may deem fit for the purpose, it wishes to have the official opinion of your Board.

More than once the Board have called the attention of the Government to the indefinite position of the sundry credits opened for the Province, under special laws, some of which did not even specify either the date or shape in which the Bank should be repaid.

The Executive, for its part, is resolved to do all it can to put an end to such an irregular state of things and restore to the Bank not only its liberty of action but its money, now that the province can securely count on the means to meet all its obligations, public peace being secure, and, consequently, also the progress and development of the vast elements of wealth which the province possess.

The debt of the Provincial Government, on 7 different accounts, amounted on the 31st of December last, to 261,652,164 m/c including interest.

Now, what would be the most convenient way for the Bank to have this debt repaid, considering the origin and present state of the several accounts, and the elements of wealth on which the country can count?

It is on this point that the Government wishes to have the opinion of the Board, and it feels assured that in considering it, the latter will give due weight to the fact that the general interests of the province and those of the Bank itself are very closely connected.

The Governor desires me to ask you to give this matter your earliest attention.

I salute you &c.,

MARIANO DEMARIA.

STATE OF IRELAND

Dublin, 24th Dec. 1880

The dictation of the terms upon which their tenants will pay any rents is not the only assumption of supreme power to which landlords are to be called upon to submit. They must also allow the tenants to choose the agents. This demand has been made in more than one instance, and the most recent is the case of Lord Dunraven, whose tenantry, to the number of 350, headed by the Adare band, made a demonstration on Saturday in Limerick to express their dissatisfaction at the transfer of the agency from Messrs. Fitzgerald and Curring to Messrs Townsend and Hussey.

The Inspector-General of Constabulary has issued circulars to the county inspectors, giving special instructions to the police to be vigilant and active in protecting process-servers, and proceeding against persons who put back tenants, or take or hold forcible possession.

A deputation of the tenantry waited upon the Duke of Leinster, at his office, Lower Dominick-street, Dublin, on Saturday, and presented a memorial asking for a permanent reduction of their rents. Mr C Hamilton, his Grace's agent, was present. His Grace offered 10 per cent reduction, but this did not satisfy them, and a promise was given that the matter should be re-considered. Later in the evening, his Grace sent the following letter to Mr Duncan, who introduced the deputation—'13, Lower Dominick street, Dublin, 17th Dec. 1880—Dear Sir—After giving full consideration to the important statement made by you and others of the deputation from Athy, I propose to grant a reduction of 20 per cent on the rent for the past half year, which is the utmost I can afford. Having no property, except from land in Ireland, I must, however, rely on the promise made by you and Mr Lowe that a substantial reduction should be made to enable tenants to employ the labourers on the estate, and thus relieve me from a portion of that duty, as it will be impossible for me to continue to give the employment I have hitherto done. I am, your faithful servant, Leinster.—To Alexander Duncan Esq.—P.S.—Having to pay interest on the money borrowed from the Board of Works, 20 per cent means to me more than 25 per cent from other landlords.'

The house of Mr Hamilton, Mr Greer's agent, is under police protection, and is continually watched.

Cork, Dec. 20.

At the Cork Assizes to-day, Patrick O'Halloran was placed on his trial for having posted a threatening notice on the chapel gate at Tulla, county Clare, on the 12th of December. The threatening notice was as follows:—

"Captain O'Callaghan, Burke Brown and O'Connell, traitors to Ireland, voted for coercion. Before long their doom will be that of Lord Mountmorres. Tullamen, do your duty. Now or never put an end to these vile and villanious wretches.'

It appeared that a short time before the notice was posted a magisterial meeting had been held at Ennis, in Clare, and it was reported that certain magistrates assembled there and voted, as they were perfectly entitled to do, in a particular way. Among the magistrates who were said to have attended, this meeting were Captain Charles George O'Callaghan, Mr Edmund Burke Brown, and Mr Daniel O'Connell, of Kilgorey. They were all landed proprietors in the Tulla district and magistrates. The evidence went to show that, in consequence of the previous posting of notices on the chapel gate, two policemen went on Sunday morning about 6, and having examined the piers of the gate and seen that no notices were posted, lay in ambush at the opposite side. While there a man approached, stopped opposite the pier of the gate, and then went away. One of the policemen followed and arrested him, while the other went to the gate and found the notice after being freshly pasted on. The jury, after having deliberated for an hour, said there was no chance of agreeing. His Lordship—Well, gentlemen, it is impossible that I can discharge you on such a plain case. Retire again, gentlemen, and I will send for you at the conclusion of the next case. The jury again retired, and after an interval of about an hour the foreman again announced that there was not the slightest chance of their agreeing. His Lordship—Have you any difficulty that I could help you to remove one way or the other? Foreman—I do not think there is. His Lordship—Very well, gentlemen, I must ask you to withdraw again to your room; I'll send for you in a short time. The jury then retired. His Lordship—Now, Mr De Moleyns, what course do you propose taking in this case? I can't keep the jury locked up. If they tell me they cannot agree I'll discharge them and return the case; but what is the use of that? Mr Atkinson—No use, my lord. Mr de Moleyns—I must say, with every respect to the conscientious or even exaggerated scruples of the jury, it appears to me at present that the law is going into abeyance, and that these functions are superseded. I believe, in reference to this case, and I think your Lordship shares the same opinion as I do, that there could not be a doubt in a case of this nature. His Lordship—I shall leave the jury in for some time longer, and if they tell me they cannot agree I must discharge them. In my judgment, with the present panel of the city of Cork, it would be a solemn mockery to try the case again. There is some power outside which is preventing them from doing their duty. The jury were eventually discharged without agreeing to a verdict,

Sobre el primero de estos arroyos existe la poblacion de la Curtiembre cerca de la Roca de Arroyo del mismo nombre donde existe un buen puerto ya muy frecuento La otra poblacion principal es el establecimiento El Cerro con algunos puertos de su dependencia distante de la ciudad de Parana 7 (siete) leguas, on esa parte y en el cual fondo como diez y siete leguas.
